The steps are as followed, First go to the website SOA.org, next you will go to the 5th widget on the left of the page that says registration and press go, now you are on the exam page, you will look in the middle in the page for an exam tool bar that you can click on, here will be listed all the exams you can register for, you will need to click on Exam P1-CBT. Then hit open. This will take you to the log in page where you will need to click first time user and only fill out the first two pages and then stop. This is where you will be given the SOA ID number that you will need to give to us tomorrow. We are very interested in pursuing things with you.
